Officials Represent the SW at the British Para-Swimming International Meet

Over the weekend of 8-11 April 2021 this meet was held at Ponds Forge International Sports Centre in Sheffield. The event incorporated the opening event of the World Para Swimming World Series and Britain's Paralympic trial meet.

Sue Gabriel a qualified Referee from North Cornwall Dragons Swimming Club reports:

On being selected to go to the BPSIM at Sheffield Ponds Forge I was initially a little cautious to how things would go with COVID precautions, I had probably the same fears that most of us have had about going back to poolside for the first time in over 12 months.

I must say that everything had a very positive vibe and all the precautions were adhered to, from the lateral test done 72 hrs prior to arrival at the event and the same again on arrival.

We had already joined a webinar where we were guided as to the one way system that would be used around the poolside, changing rooms etc so felt comfortable when going onto the deck.

On arrival at Sheffield and following another test we booked into our hotels and went straight to our rooms which was where we would have to be anytime we were not at meals or the pool, breakfast was collected and had to be eaten in your room, no one else was allowed into your room at anytime, lunch and dinner was at individual tables socially distanced. Temperature was taken every time we left to go to the pool and a sticker given attached to your accreditation, if this was not complied with you were not allowed to enter the venue.

On poolside everything was a little different to normal having to make sure that we all remained socially distanced and especially around the athletes as they are quite vulnerable. Sanitising of blocks, athletes chairs etc between each race was done routinely.

During finals there was none of the usual razzmatazz and there were no awards distributed, as officials the set up was different to previous times I have attended and we stayed in our usual positions around the pool etc instead of each corner of the pool (maintaining our social distances).social distancing was conformed to during March on and off poolside, masks were worn at all times in the venue and in the hotel unless eating or in your own room.

The number of swimmers during this event has been lower than previous and of course there were no spectators so all seemed very quiet compared to pre-COVID events, we were very lucky to have the international element here with us.

All in all I would say I have had a positive experience here in Sheffield and can now see that with planning, communication and commitment we may be able to see our way back onto deck without too much trepidation. Although bringing this approach down to club level may be quite difficult to do.

Our Officials Secretary Reports on her time at the British Swimming Selection Trials

Nicky Vause our South West Officials Secretary reports on her time Officiating recently at the British Swimming Selection Trails which were held on 14th to 18th April 2021 at the London Aquatics Centre.

I felt privileged to be appointed as a Technical Official for the British Time Trials; held at the London Aquatics Centre from 14 – 18 April. With so little opportunities to race this was a pivotal event for British swimmers aiming for Olympic selection.

Despite Covid measures in place: pre event testing, testing on arrival, daily temperature tests, living in a strict event bubble, (eating all meals in your room) and sanitizing the equipment between races it was business as usual. However, I will confess that I had first day nerves; after a break of over a year would I be able to officiate to the required standard, pleased to say they quickly disappeared, and I cracked on.

In addition to witnessing some amazing swimming the highlight was seeing the enjoyment gained by the athletes from competing. Looking forward to the Tokyo Olympics the athletes renewed love of the sport will surely spur them on to podium places.

As Covid restrictions ease and we look towards the planned Summer Festival of Swimming event I look forward to officiating with friends and colleagues in the South West.

Regional Agreement has the Final Sign Off

Over the past few months the Region have been working with Swim England to produce a Regional Agreement which outlines all of the projects and plans to be delivered across the disciplines throughout the year. This agreement was signed off by the Board in early June and we all are looking forward to continue working with Swim England.

Regional Pathway Programme Stays Virtual

We ran our first pathway camp of the year virtually due to some restrictions still being in place. This was attended by 46 12 year olds who signed up to learn and develop their swimming.

The day started with gender specific groups talking about a particular topic, the girls learned about puberty and performance and the boys learned about training through growth periods. Other topics on the day included presentations on medley turns and transitions and Building Confidence and Resilience Brick by Brick. There was also a talk from two inspirational speakers, Joe Litchfield and Abbi Wood, along with a fun quiz to see what the athletes had learned throughout the day.

The camp was delivered by our Lead Coach Emily Dart (Truro SC) supported by 6 Skills Coaches; Neil Edwards (Mount Kelly), David Cousins (Bristol Penguins), Paddy Noon (City of Bristol), Christopher Lee (Plymouth Leander), Paul Harnden (Trowbridge ASC) and Mark Podbury (Burnham on Sea SC).

Water Polo Appoint a New Girls Squad Head Coach

The SE SW R Water Polo Committee has appointed Nick Hume to the position of Head Coach of the South West Girls Squads, and his first duty will be attending and coaching at the Regional Training Academy on Saturday, 11th September, 5pm-9pm. Having grown up in West London and playing for Hammersmith Penguins, at the age of nineteen Nick went off to the University at California Berkeley on a water polo scholarship. Whilst there he won two National Championships beating Stanford and UCLA in the finals. He combined this with returning home to play for the GB National senior team at the European Championship and World Student Games. After leaving the US, Nick travelled down to Australia, playing for Sydney University and then the Balmain Tigers in the national league. Whilst there he was encouraged to get his Australian citizenship, which he did, and he ended up playing for the Australian national team.

During his playing career Nick got involved in coaching, first at school level, then club level before moving on to become the New South Wales State coach and assistant to the Women's Australian National team.

Returning to the UK in 2003 Nick was appointed as Britain's first National Performance Director, which he combined with coaching the women's national senior team. Since that time Nick has been involved with coaching many of the national Senior and Junior teams, highlights of which include finishing eighth at the World Junior Championships and 6th at the Junior European Championships.

A New Swim England Report Released Shows a Worrying Future for our Swimming Pools

Swim England's new report A Decade of Decline shows a worrying future for our swimming pools. At current rates, by the end of the decade almost 2,000 swimming pools could be lost forever, threatening the future of our aquatic sports and leaving millions shut out of the activities they love.

Swim England are calling for the government to invest £1 billion into public leisure to enable local councils to build the new pools and refurbish existing ones to ensure we have the pools we need for the future.
